MODERN COOKERY WITH GAS

THIS is more than “just another recipe book”—it is a complete treatise on the modern art of gas cookery. Its purpose is to help you to enjoy fully the convenience of your automatic gas range. It will help you to get greater value for each food dollar, too.

The index on the back pages provides quick reference.

THE PHILADELPHIA GAS WORKS COMPANY

MODERN COOKERY

WITH GAS

A MODERN HOMEMAKER TELLS THE STORY OF AUTOMATIC COOKING

"I am a modern homemaker.

"Like my friends, like you, I love the nice things in life: a round of golf, bridge, a drive in the country, a matinee, shopping, with plenty of spare time in which to look over the new styles, time to play with my children, to guide them and watch them and share their fun.

"But these pleasures . . . which I now enjoy . . . have not long been mine.

"I was usually tired when my husband came home, tired and worn from the day's cooking. Yet, all the time, I realized it is the modern woman's duty to do more than feed her family. Dinner, with or without company, should be enjoyable . . . not 'just another meal'.

"I wanted to do my share to make my home and my family's homelife as pleasant as possible, but chained everlastingly to cooking tasks, I could not go out for relaxation among my friends, doing what every modern woman wants to do.

"Now my problem is solved . . . thanks to automatic cooking with gas. Let me help you solve yours by telling you how your new automatic gas range will free you from many weary hours of household cares.

"You can make your plans for a complete dinner, take the foods from your refrigerator and arrange them in the proper cooking utensils. Then you may leave the kitchen, returning shortly before the dinner hour to find your whole dinner done to a turn—hot, savory and ready-to-serve!

“It sounds like the story of Aladdin and his Magic Lamp, doesn’t it?

“Which is precisely what automatic cooking with gas on your new automatic gas range is. The story of Aladdin in modern dress! Only, instead of rubbing a lamp, you set a time and heat control and then extra hours of the day are yours.

“I am an exacting cook. No one has ever been more concerned about the flavor, the healthfulness and the appearance of roasts, vegetables and desserts than I. But I can assure you that my automatic gas range satisfies my most demanding expectations! It cooks every kind of food just as I like it cooked:—full-flavored roasts cooked in their natural juices, with a minimum of shrinkage and all their healthful vitamins retained; vegetables cooked au naturel, without loss of mineral salts; breads, cakes and biscuits perfectly done and browned ‘to a turn’. Just try it for yourself and as long as you follow the simple directions of your automatic cookery recipes, your range will never fail to please you.

“That last half hour before dinner will no longer be a flurried one. The family may be welcomed home, guests may be greeted and after a minute or two in the kitchen . . .dinner is served.

“Automatic cooking with gas is the greatest step towards woman’s new freedom.”

CLEAN, COOL KITCHENS

A clean, cool kitchen is indicative of a progressive mind. Every feature of your automatic gas range is a step towards this end.

The oven is heavily insulated, retaining the heat for cooking instead of allowing it to escape into the kitchen. The clear, blue flames of gas, and the bright enamel finish of the range, make for a new cleanliness and beauty.

COOKING AT ANY SPEED YOU WISH

Your automatic gas range provides for wide flexibility in cooking. In an instant, you may have a hot flame for quick heating to any temperature desired; a turn of the handle and your flame is lowered to any point you wish.

EASY AND ECONOMICAL OVEN MEALS

You can easily cook an entire meal in the oven at one time. The time and temperature controls always assure you of a delicious and perfectly cooked meal and save not only time but fuel, too.

MEALS COOKED OVER ONE BURNER

With a pressure cooker, a Dutch oven, a waterless cooker, a steamer or a set of triplicate saucepans, you may cook a simple meal over one burner. There are many of the less expensive meat cuts, almost all vegetables and some desserts which are well adapted to this top-burner cookery.

“WATERLESS COOKING”

We are learning to cook with less water; for, proportionate with the absence of water, certain vegetables and meats become more flavorsome and nutritious. Further explanations of this healthful method of cookery are given on page 64.

DELICIOUS MEALS FROM THE BROILER

No longer is broiling associated with smoke and sputtering fat. The better broilers in automatic gas ranges have made broiling a fascinating and healthful way of cooking food deliciously. Interesting variety can easily be given the simplest meals by using the broiler for the grilling of meats, vegetables and fruits.

GAS . . . THE PERFECT COOKING FUEL

Gas is the perfect cooking fuel. For every form of cooking: broiling, boiling, baking, roasting, etc., gas has always been the most efficient and economical fuel to use. With all its incomparable advantages, it is no wonder that in more than 15,000,000 American homes gas cooks the meals.

AUTOMATIC COOKING WITH GAS

A GAS RANGE equipped with modern time and heat control makes automatic cooking possible. Whole hours and afternoons of new freedom can be yours.

The automatic time control turns on the gas at any time you set it for—and turns it off again at the time you know the food will be done. In cooking an oven meal you can put the food in the oven before you go out and leave it without further attention—knowing that your oven will faithfully turn itself on, go to the right heat, and turn itself safely off again at the proper time. When you wish to serve you will find dinner hot and perfectly cooked.

Time Control

USE OF OVEN HEAT CONTROL

The heat control can be set at any desired temperature and when the oven reaches this point the heat is automatically maintained.

For baking and roasting, adjust the heat control, turn on the gas full and light the burner (or your time control will light it for you). When the gas flame automatically turns itself down the oven has reached the temperature for which the control was set. Do not open the oven door unnecessarily.

It is not necessary to preheat the oven of an automatic range in the preparation of an oven meal.

NOTE—When planning an oven meal try fitting the empty utensils in the oven to be sure that there is room enough for all the food you are planning to bake. Do not let the baking dishes touch each other or the sides of the oven. Also place the oven racks so that air space is left under and over the utensils.

MEASUREMENTS

MEASUREMENTS for all materials required in the recipes in this book are level.

The standard measuring cup holds one-half pint and is divided into fourths and thirds.

To make level measurements, fill cup or spoon and scrape off excess with back of knife.

One-half spoon is measured lengthwise of spoon.

Sift flour before measuring.

Sift baking powder with flour.

Where shortening is mentioned in the recipes it is understood that butter, lard, or other similar fats may be used.

BOILING

NEW ENGLAND DINNER

(See page 11 for recipe)

BOILING is cooking in water which is bubbling vigorously at the boiling point—212 degrees Fahrenheit. Simmering is cooking in water immediately below the boiling point, at 180 to 210 degrees. Stewing is cooking in a small amount of water, which may either boil or simmer as required. These cooking methods are similar and may be grouped together.

The gas flame's intense heat and complete flexibility make it the perfect cooking fuel for boiling and simmering.

FRICASSEE OF CHICKEN

by Maxime, Chef de Cuisine, Benjamin Franklin Hotel

6 Servings

Dress a four-pound chicken. Remove wings and legs, split breast, disjoint legs. Place four ounces of butter and a little olive oil in casserole. Season the chicken with salt, pepper and a dash of paprika. Put casserole on fire, and, when the butter sings, place the chicken therein. Allow chicken to brown slightly. Then give chicken one turn in pan.

Smother with one pound of chopped Spanish onions and allow to simmer for ten minutes. Add one pint of cream and cook twenty-five minutes over a slow fire.

Remove chicken from casserole and dress on serving platter. Finish the sauce by adding five ounces Supreme Sauce. Bring to boil, remove from fire and pass through cheese cloth or fine sieve. Season sauce to taste and add two ounces of butter.

Take twelve large mushrooms, season with salt and pepper. Place in pan with a lump of butter and a bit of chopped parsley in center. Bake in oven about eight minutes, basting with butter all the while. Stuff mushrooms with horseradish and dress on a toast. Keep aside ready to serve very hot.

Dip twelve oysters in beaten egg; roll in cracker crumbs. Fry in butter.

Serve, with the chicken in the center of the platter. Mushrooms on toast at one end of platter, and oysters on toast at the other.

Sauce the chicken and serve remainder of sauce separately.

POT ROAST

Select 4 to 6 pounds beef from rump or round. Wipe with a clean cloth and sprinkle with salt, pepper and flour. Place in kettle with fat trimmings from meat and brown. Then add one cup water, cover tightly and simmer 2 or 3 hours, or until almost tender, adding only enough water from time to time to keep meat from burning. Add 6 or 8 small onions, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sliced carrots, and $\frac{1}{2}$ cup celery, cut in pieces. Cook until vegetables are done; add salt and pepper to taste and thicken with a little flour mixed to a smooth paste with cold water. (Or pot roast may be cooked in the oven at 300°F. for 2 to 3 hours.)

HINTS ON BOILING, SIMMERING AND STEWING

MANY FOODS require slow cooking, at a point below boiling. In the case of soups, stews, and all the cheaper cuts of meat, very slow cooking is desirable. You will find that a small flame will do the work best. SOUPS with meat foundation are made by allowing the bone and pieces of meat cut from it (part of which may be browned in fat if you wish) to soak for at least an hour in cold water. Then it is heated slowly and cooked below the boiling point for several hours.

TO MAKE STEW, brown the cubes of meat which have been dredged in seasoned flour in hot fat. Onion may be added at this stage if you wish, or the onion may be browned in the fat before the meat goes in. After the meat has browned it is partly covered with boiling water, and allowed to simmer, covered, over a very low flame. After an hour or more of this slow cooking, vegetables are added and cooking is continued for half an hour before the mixture is thickened.

MEATS which are cooked in water, such as ham, tongue, mutton and certain cuts of beef and veal, are better simmered than boiled. The water should be boiling when the meat is put in, then it should be brought back to the boil again before reducing the heat. The flame may then be lowered and the meat allowed to cook very slowly in order to soften the tissues. Some meats, such as ham and tongue, are improved by allowing them to partly cool in the water in which they were cooked.

CHICKEN—Place in a kettle containing enough boiling water to half cover the fowl. Boil and skim until scum ceases to rise, then simmer, allowing about 20 to 30 minutes per pound, depending upon age of poultry.

FISH.—Wrap in cheesecloth and place in a kettle half filled with boiling water. Cook slowly, allowing fifteen or twenty minutes to the pound. The water should have salt and a little lemon juice in it, to give flavor and keep the flesh white.

NEW ENGLAND DINNER

8 Servings

Select a 4-pound piece of rump corned beef. Put in a kettle and cover with boiling water. Bring to the boiling point. Cover kettle, lower gas flame and simmer 1 hour. Cut a head of cabbage in quarters. Add cabbage and 6 or 8 medium sized carrots to meat. Simmer 20 minutes. Add 6 or 8 medium sized potatoes and cook 30 minutes longer. Remove meat and slice thin. Arrange slices of corned beef on platter with the vegetables around them.

BEEF STEW

6 Servings

1 flank steak (about 2 lbs.)	1 bunch celery
2 tablespoons fat	6 potatoes, cut up
3 cups boiling water	salt and pepper
2 large carrots	Worcestershire sauce
	flour

Cut flank steak in convenient sized pieces. Brown well in hot fat. Add water, cover closely and simmer for 2 to 3 hours. About one hour before meat is done, add the vegetables and season with salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce. Have the celery cut in three-inch lengths and the carrots in quarters, lengthwise. Just before serving thicken the gravy with a little flour mixed to a smooth paste with cold water.

VEAL ERICASSEE

4 to 6 Servings

2 lbs. veal	2 tablespoons flour
3 cups boiling water	1 tablespoon butter
2½ tablespoons	½ teaspoon mace
chopped onion	2 tablespoons
½ teaspoon salt	chopped parsley
⅛ teaspoon pepper	paprika

Wipe veal and cut in small pieces. Add water and onion; bring to boil, then simmer 1 hour. Add salt, pepper and flour mixed to a smooth paste with butter. Cook 5 minutes longer; add mace, parsley and a dash of paprika. Serve with boiled or steamed rice.

CHICKEN À LA KING

6 to 8 Servings

1 chicken (about 4 pounds)
 ½ cup butter
 ¼ cup flour
 ½ teaspoon chopped onion
 1½ teaspoons salt
 ⅛ teaspoon paprika
 ⅛ teaspoon pepper
 14-ounce can of mushrooms
 ½ cup cream
 2 pimientos
 1 green pepper

Simmer a chicken or fowl until tender. Allow it to cool thoroughly in its own liquor, reserving 2 cups of the stock. Remove all the meat and cut into thick strips. There should be about 3 cups.

Next melt butter in a saucepan and add flour gradually, stirring constantly. When beginning to bubble add gradually the 2 cups chicken stock and stir, while cooking over a very slow flame, until smooth and thickened. Then add onion, salt, pepper and paprika. Next add the drained liquor from a 14-ounce can of mushrooms and blend thoroughly. Divide the sauce in half, and to one half of it add the chicken. To the other half add cream, pimientos cut in small thin strips, green pepper also cut into thin strips and mushrooms. Add this to chicken mixture. Cook 2 minutes in double boiler. Fill patty shells and serve. Use tiny strips of pepper and pimiento to decorate top of chicken.

You can make your own patty shells by baking pie crust on inverted muffin tins 8 to 12 minutes in a hot oven 475°F. Be sure to prick the pie crust with a fork before baking. This will prevent puffing up.

CREAMED CHIPPED BEEF WITH GREEN PEPPERS

6 Servings

- 2 cups milk
- 4 tablespoons flour
- 4 tablespoons butter
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 1 green pepper, chopped
- 1 8-oz. jar chipped beef

Place beef which has been cut into strips in a sieve. Run hot water through the beef to freshen. Cook green pepper in boiling water 5 minutes; chop fine. Make a white sauce of the butter, flour, milk and pepper. Add beef and green pepper. Serve on toast.

CURRY OF RICE

6 Servings

- 1 cup rice
- 2 tablespoons fat
- 1 teaspoon chopped onion
- 2 1/2 cups boiling water
- 1 to 2 tablespoons curry-powder
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Wash the rice well. Place fat and onion in a stewpan and cook until onion is yellow, add the rice and stir the whole over a hot fire for five minutes. Season with the curry-powder, salt and pepper. Add boiling water. Stir well. Cover the stew-pan and boil rapidly for 10 minutes, then cook slowly for 40 minutes.

Curry of rice is appropriate with any kind of meat dish that has been prepared with a sauce such as veal fricassee or beef stew.

CHICKEN SAUTÉ WITH MALAGA GRAPES

Recipe by Conti, Head Chef of the Hotel Walton

Disjoint a spring chicken, season with salt and pepper, and place in a sauce pan with 2 ounces of butter, 1/4 pound of sliced mushrooms. When slightly browned, remove chicken and place on platter. Put into the sauce pan 1/2 cup of rich cream and 1/2 cup of meat gravy. Let it boil for 10 minutes, add 2 dozen malaga grapes and let boil 1 more minute. Cook again for 5 minutes, then pour contents over the chicken and serve piping hot. This recipe can be used with fowl, game, pork chops, veal cutlets or steak.

HORSERADISH SAUCE

6 to 8 Servings

- 4 tablespoons heavy cream
- 3 tablespoons grated horseradish
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- paprika and salt

Whip the cream stiff, mix the other ingredients and beat them gradually into the whipped cream.

HOLLANDAISE SAUCE

6 Servings

- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice or vinegar
- 1/4 teaspoon paprika
- few grains cayenne
- 2 egg yolks

Wash butter and melt over hot water. Beat egg yolks with lemon juice or vinegar until very light, then add the butter gradually, beating constantly. Add seasonings and serve at once. If sauce is not thick enough stir over hot water for a minute.

WELSH RAREBIT

6 to 8 Servings

- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1 teaspoon cornstarch
- 1/2 cup thin cream
- 1/2 pound soft, mild cheese
(cut in small pieces)
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon mustard
- few grains cayenne
- toast or wafer crackers

Melt butter, add cornstarch, and stir until well mixed. Then add cream gradually while stirring constantly, and cook two minutes. Add cheese and stir until cheese is melted. Season, and serve on wafer crackers or bread toasted on one side, rarebit being poured over untoasted side. Much of the success of a rarebit depends upon the quality of the cheese. A rarebit should be smooth and of a creamy consistency, never stringy. If stringy, add one egg slightly beaten.

FRYING

FILET OF FLOUNDER
(See page 14 for recipe)

THERE are two methods of frying—deep fat frying and sautéing. The latter is much used in American homes. We sauté (fry in a pan with a little hot fat) eggs, meats, potatoes and many other foods.

Much like sautéing is pan broiling. By this method cooking is done in a pan with only the fat that comes out of the food itself, and some of this fat is poured off if there is more of it than is required to prevent burning. Bacon, sausages and pork chops, when pan broiled, take on a new and delightful flavor.

Deep fat frying is more popular with the French, but most of us know it for doughnuts, fritters, croquettes and French fried potatoes. This frying method deserves wider use. With familiarity and the right simple equipment, it is just as easy as sautéing. Its use helps give variety to menus and makes left-overs into delightful surprises. The flexibility of gas makes it possible to heat the fat to the exact temperature required for each type of food, thus insuring crisp, non-greasy fried delicacies.

FILET OF FLOUNDER

Wipe filets from a 5 or 6 lb. flounder with a damp cloth. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Dip in crumbs, then in slightly beaten egg, then in crumbs again. Fry in deep fat, or sauté in small amount fat. Remove to serving dish; squeeze lemon juice and melted butter over it and garnish with parsley and lemon slices.

FRENCH FRIED POTATOES

Pare large potatoes, cut in strips $\frac{1}{2}$ inch thick. Wash and soak in very cold water. Drain and dry on clean towels. Fry in deep fat until a delicate brown color. Drain on unglazed paper and sprinkle with salt.

FRENCH FRIED ONIONS

Cut onions in slices and make rings out of them. Put in a dish with a little cold milk. Drain milk off and add plenty of flour to onions. Then put them in a sieve or colander and shake off the flour. Fry in very hot fat. Serve immediately.

EGG PLANT

Pare an egg plant and slice in $\frac{1}{2}$ inch pieces; put between two plates with a weight on top. Cover for a half hour or more. Dip slices in beaten egg and then in bread crumbs to which have been added 1 teaspoon of salt and $\frac{1}{8}$ teaspoon pepper. Put 3 heaping tablespoons of lard or substitute in a flat roasting pan; melt. When it is very hot, put in slices of egg plant and place pan in broiling oven, not too close to flame. Have oven burner turned on nearly full (500 degrees). Broil until quite brown, then turn and brown on other side; takes about 15 or 20 minutes.

FRIED APPLES

Wash and core red apples; do not peel. Cut in thick slices. Dip slices in flour to which a little sugar has been added. Sauté in hot fat until soft and browned.

HOW TO FRY

A HEAVY iron or other thick metal pan or kettle is best for sautéing and deep frying. Heavy metal holds the heat more evenly and helps to prevent rapid changes in temperature of fat.

MOIST FOODS should be dried as much as possible before frying.

IN SAUTEING OR PAN FRYING, use only enough grease to cover bottom of pan. Turn the food as soon as it is brown on one side. If not thoroughly cooked when both sides are brown, lower the heat and cover pan to finish cooking.

IN DEEP FRYING, use enough fat to float the food. Do not put in too much food at one time as dangerous boiling over of the hot fat may result.

A long-handled spoon and fork, a wire basket to hold foods in the hot fat, a thermometer which registers over 400° F., and absorbent paper for draining the foods after frying—are big helps in deep frying.

Fats which are suitable for deep-fat frying are the vegetable oils and fats, lard, or a combination of any two. These fats are suitable because they do not burn readily, they produce an agreeable flavor and they are moderate in price.

The temperature at which food is fried is very important. If fat is too hot it smokes—then food will brown quickly and be raw inside; if too cool, food will be grease-soaked. Use a frying thermometer or the cube-of-bread test to determine the temperature of fat:

At 350 to 375°F. a cube of bread will brown in 60 seconds: the right temperature to fry uncooked mixtures, such as doughnuts, fritters, oysters, clams, etc.

At 375 to 400°F. a cube of bread will brown in 40 to 50 seconds: the right temperature to fry previously cooked foods, such as croquettes; also for French fried potatoes.

The gas flame may be adjusted so accurately that when fat has reached proper temperature, that temperature can be maintained, providing the same quantity of food is placed in kettle each time.

BASIC RECIPE FOR CROQUETTES

Melt 4 tablespoons butter, margarine, or oil in a saucepan. Add 4 tablespoons flour, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt, $\frac{1}{8}$ teaspoon pepper, and stir until smooth. Then add 1 cup bottled milk or $\frac{1}{2}$ cup evaporated milk diluted with $\frac{1}{2}$ cup water or 4 tablespoons powdered milk and 1 cup water, while stirring constantly. Cook until thickened, then add 2 cups finely chopped cooked or canned meat, fish, or poultry; 1 teaspoon each of minced onion and parsley; 1 teaspoon lemon juice if fish is used, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon lemon juice if meat or poultry is used, and additional salt if necessary. Turn out on a shallow dish and allow to chill thoroughly. When cold, shape into balls, rolls, ovals, cones, or any desired shape. Ice-cream scoops are excellent for shaping conical croquettes. Next, roll the croquettes in fine-sifted dry bread crumbs or fine cracker crumbs purchasable in packages. Then dip them in beaten egg adding 1 teaspoon water to each egg, and last in crumbs again. Fry in deep fat at 300° F. until golden brown on all sides, then drain. Serve plain or with white sauce, parsley sauce, tomato sauce, or the like.

SALMON CROQUETTES

6 Servings

2 cups salmon well broken up; 1 egg, slightly beaten; 2 tablespoons chopped parsley; $\frac{1}{2}$ cup milk; pepper and salt to taste; add enough bread crumbs to make right consistency to shape into croquettes. Roll in egg and bread crumbs and fry in deep fat; serve with white sauce (page 57); garnish with slice of lemon and chopped parsley.

VEGETABLE CUTLETS

6 Servings

1½ cups mashed potatoes
2 cups mixed carrots, peas, turnips, fried sliced onion and chopped celery
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 tablespoon pimiento

Mix the above ingredients thoroughly—mold into cutlets and fry in deep hot fat.

MEAT CROQUETTES

4 to 6 Servings

2 cups meat (lean, cooked, ground)	1 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk or meat stock	$\frac{1}{8}$ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons fat	$\frac{1}{2}$ tablespoon chopped onions
4 tablespoons flour

Make a very thick sauce of liquid, fat, and flour. Blend with well seasoned meat and seasonings. Spread thinly on a shallow pan to chill thoroughly until easily handled. Shape rounded tablespoon of thoroughly chilled croquette mixture into neat well formed balls. Roll in crumbs, then dip in egg, roll in crumbs again. Fry 5 to 8 minutes in deep hot fat, until golden brown. Drain.

DOUGHNUTS

1/3 cup sugar
 1 tablespoon shortening
 1 egg
 1/3 cup milk
 2 cups flour
 2 teaspoons baking powder
 dash of nutmeg
 dash of mace
 1/2 teaspoon salt

Cream sugar and shortening together. Add beaten egg and milk. Mix and sift flour, baking powder, nutmeg, mace and salt. Add to first mixture and mix well, adding a little additional flour if necessary. Turn out on slightly floured board and roll to $\frac{1}{2}$ inch thickness. Cut with doughnut cutter and fry in deep fat for 5 to 8 minutes, or until a delicate brown. Drain on unglazed paper. Sprinkle with powdered sugar.

BROILING

BROILED STEAK
(See page 17 for recipe)

BROILING is cooking by the application of direct heat. It is a quick method of cookery and therefore adapted only to naturally tender foods, such as lamb chops; beefsteaks—tenderloin, sirloin, porterhouse and minute; young chicken; liver; fish; bacon; thin slices of ham; sausages and sweetbreads. Certain vegetables, too, may be cooked by this method, the most frequently broiled ones being tomatoes and mushrooms.

Broiling deserves a more important place in home cookery. It is not only a quick but a healthful way of preparing these more tender foods. Fortunately the improved facilities of the modern gas range make it easy for the homemaker to use this popular method of cookery.

Delightful combinations of meat and vegetables may be cooked on the broiler at the same time, making what is known as a "Mixed Grill". These Grills are practically a complete meal, with the addition of a light salad or dessert. Try some of the combinations suggested on page 18.

HINTS ON BROILING

Set oven heat control at 550°F. and light burner.

Preheat broiling compartment at least 10 minutes, with door closed, before putting in food.

Arrange food on greased broiler and place it so that there will be about 2 inches between food and flame.

Broil with door open.

After browning food on one side, turn and allow to brown on other side. For steaks and chops turn about every 3 minutes until done.

The length of time for broiling meat depends on the thickness it is cut and how well done it is desired. For example; for a rare steak, cut 1½ inches thick, it will take 10 to 15 minutes; for a minute steak, usually cut about ½ inch thick, it will take only 5 or 6 minutes; for a pork chop, or a loin or shoulder lamb chop, about 10 to 12 min.; for a young chicken, split, about 20 to 25 minutes.

Fish is best broiled in a shallow, oiled pan. Because of its delicate texture it is less apt to break when turned on a flat pan than on a wire broiler. Use a wide spatula for turning.

For toast, light the broiling burner and after a few minutes place bread on the rack; turn when one side has browned. For toast with a very soft center and a golden brown surface, heat broiling compartment, with door closed, about 5 minutes before placing bread on rack. For dry, crisp toast (Melba) turn the flame very low and move rack away from the flame.

Foods that are not harmed by high temperature, such as baked potatoes, baking powder biscuit and yeast rolls, may be baked while the broiler is in use.

BROILED SHAD

Clean fish and split for broiling. Wipe with clean, damp cloth. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and place, flesh side up, on well-greased pan (or broiler). Broil 20 to 25 minutes, reducing heat slightly if fish browns too quickly. Turn and broil on skin side just long enough to crisp the skin. Remove to serving platter and garnish with lemon and parsley.

GRILLED TOMATOES

6 Servings

6 medium-sized	1 egg
tomatoes	bread crumbs

Wash and cut tomatoes in halves crosswise, without peeling them. Cut off thin slices from top and bottom. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and a little sugar. Dip in crumbs, then in beaten egg diluted with 2 tablespoons water and in crumbs again. Place on slightly oiled broiler and broil 6 to 10 minutes under oven flame.

BROILED OYSTERS

6 Servings

3 dozen oysters	6 slices toast
12 slices bacon

Drain the oysters. Place bacon slices on broiler rack, cover with oysters and cook for 2 minutes under hot flame. Serve on toast, garnishing with lemon slices and parsley.

BROILED STEAK

Wipe steak with cloth wrung out of cold water; preheat oven, leaving gas turned on full; grease broiler with fat; lay steak on broiler and place the broiler about 2 inches from flame. Cook first on one side for 2 minutes, then on the other side to brown meat; then turn occasionally until both sides are done. Steak cut 1¼ inches thick will take 10 minutes to broil rare; 15 minutes well done. Door wide open during broiling. When cooked, put steak on hot platter, spread with butter and sprinkle with salt and pepper.

BROILING → → → → → → → → → → → → → → →

BROILED BACON

Place cold slices of bacon on a cold broiler rack and place rack four or five inches below flame (gas control should be set at 325°F.) Turn bacon occasionally. When it is a light golden brown color and evenly crisped, remove to hot platter for serving.

BROILED KIDNEYS

Cut lamb's or calf's kidneys into halves. Remove the white tubes and fat and cover with cold water. Let stand about ½ hour, drain and dry well. Spread with melted butter or cooking oil and place on broiler. Broil slowly until brown on one side; turn and brown on the other. Remove to serving platter, sprinkle with salt and pepper and spread with butter; garnish with parsley and slices of lemon.

MIXED GRILLS

Mixed Grills provide a delightful way to serve broiled combinations, either for guest or family meals. Specially treated wooden planks are made for the purpose, or heat-proof glass platters, may be used. The planks may be bought in either large or individual sizes, and though fairly expensive, they will last a long time with the proper care.

When prepared this way the food is served on the plank, and the plank placed either in a frame made for the purpose, or on a platter. Garnish with parsley or watercress.

If plank or heat-proof glass is not available, arrange on oven broiler or shallow baking pan. To serve, remove to serving platter or individual plates using a broad spatula. Here are some popular combinations.

OYSTERS, BACON AND TOMATOES

Arrange oysters in center of plank, lay halves of tomatoes around them. Place strips of bacon over oysters and sprinkle tomatoes with salt, pepper, a little sugar and dot with butter. Broil about 10 minutes.

FILET OF SOLE, TOMATOES, POTATO BORDER

Arrange filets on oiled plank or platter. Spread with oil and a little lemon juice. Cut tomatoes in halves, sprinkle with salt, pepper, a little sugar and dot with butter. Place under broiler flame, until fish has lost its shiny appearance, allowing about 10 minutes per pound. Remove from oven, put border of mashed potatoes around edge of plank and return to broiler to brown potatoes.

CHEESE ON TOAST, BACON AND TOMATOES

Use two open slices of bread, cover with thin pieces of American or store cheese; on this lay slices of tomato; place 2 strips of bacon on top and broil about 5 or 6 minutes.

CHOP, SAUSAGE, BACON AND MUSHROOMS

Arrange on oven broiler small sausages, bacon and whole, peeled mushroom caps; broil 10 to 12 minutes, according to thickness of chop.

Among other foods which lend themselves to grilled combinations are bananas, sliced apples, asparagus tips, parboiled sweet or white potatoes; liver, sweetbreads, filet mignon and ham. With a little practice you can make all kinds of delightful combinations of your own choosing.

ROASTING

ROAST OF BEEF
(See page 20 for recipe)

IN the roasting methods recently approved by the Department of Agriculture and recommended by research boards of leading meat packers and agricultural colleges, tests show that roasted meats are more juicy, more tender and have less shrinkage when cooked at a low, constant temperature in an open roaster, without basting, than when cooked by formerly approved methods. These authorities agree that searing meat is not necessary: in fact they find that the high temperature used in searing actually increases cooking losses and correspondingly decreases tenderness, juiciness and flavor. This is especially noticeable in the less tender cuts of meat, in lean meats such as veal and lamb, and in all meat cooked to the well-done stage. The roasting methods we are offering you in this book are based, therefore, on these latest scientific findings. They will not only produce the best possible results but will simplify your home-cooking problems as well.

PRIME ROAST OF BEEF

Wipe the meat with a clean damp cloth and place in open roasting pan. Sprinkle with salt and pepper but do not add water. Roast at 300°F. for 18 to 20 minutes per pound, according to rareness desired.

STUFFED BREAST OF VEAL

8 Servings

4 pounds breast of veal	1 teaspoon salt
1 cup bread crumbs	1 teaspoon thyme
2 slices fat salt pork	1 teaspoon sweet
¼ teaspoon pepper	marjoram

The butcher will prepare the veal for stuffing, if requested to do so. If he has not done so, make an incision between the ribs and the meat. Fill this cavity with stuffing made from the bread-crumbs, pork, sweet marjoram, thyme, salt and pepper. Wipe the meat, dredge with salt, pepper and flour; lay thin slices of salt pork over it and place in roasting pan. Roast at 300°F., allowing 25 minutes per pound. Make a gravy from the drippings, using one tablespoon flour and one cup water to one tablespoon of drippings.

ROAST DUCK

Singe, draw and wash a duck of proper age for roasting. Stuff with bread and onion stuffing (page 25). Tie securely with wings and legs close to body. Place on back in open roasting pan and sprinkle with salt. Roast at 400°F. allowing 20 to 30 minutes per pound, according to rareness desired. Serve with giblet gravy and apple sauce or currant jelly.

Some people consider that ducks have too strong a flavor, and to absorb this flavor lay cored and quartered apples inside the body instead of using a stuffing. These apples are removed before the duck is served. Celery and onions also may be placed inside the duck to season it and improve the flavor, two tablespoons of chopped onion being used to every cup of chopped celery, which may consist of the green stalks that are not desired for the table. This stuffing is also removed before the duck is served.

VEAL BIRDS

Have veal cut from leg in very thin slices; then pound with wooden masher until not over ¼ inch thick. Cut into pieces about three by five inches. In the center of each piece put a spoonful of stuffing. Roll up and tie with string or fasten with small skewers, wrapping a slice of bacon around each "bird." Place in uncovered pan and roast at 350°F. about 45 minutes, or until tender. (It may be necessary, in the case of these small pieces of meat, to add a very little water or meat stock during cooking). The stuffing for veal birds should be as moist as possible; use a well seasoned bread stuffing or a combination of sausage meat, onions and bread is good with veal.

STUFFED TOMATOES

4 Servings

Wash and cut off tops of 4 tomatoes; scoop out the pulp very carefully; fill with

1 cup bread crumbs
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 tablespoon butter
⅛ teaspoon paprika	1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon chopped onion and the chopped tomato taken from the shell; put stuffed tomatoes in flat pan with ¼ cup hot water and lay tiny strips of green pepper across top of tomatoes, criss-cross. Bake at 400°F. for 20 minutes.

CROWN ROAST OF PORK

A crown roast is prepared from two loins containing about eight chops each. It makes an especially attractive roast for "company meals". Have the butcher cut and shape ribs into a crown; he will probably fill the center with ground-up meat which may be mixed with bread crumbs and seasoning and used as a stuffing. Season meat with salt and pepper and put a small piece of salt pork on top of each bone to keep them from burning. Place meat in roasting pan and roast, uncovered without adding water, at 325°F., allowing 25 to 35 minutes per pound. When ready to serve, remove pork from bones and replace with paper frills. Garnish platter with fried apple rings and parsley.

OVEN MEALS

MEAT LOAF DINNER
(See page 23 for recipe)

WITH an automatic gas range an entire meal of soup, meat, vegetables and dessert may be cooked in the oven at one time (provided the proper combination of foods are selected). Set the time and heat controls as indicated in your recipes, then arrange food in the oven, being careful that utensils are not too close together (see page 6). When you are ready to serve you will find your dinner hot and cooked "to a turn."

The temperature required for these oven meals varies with the number of cooking hours allowed. For instance, for a two-hour meal use a 300° F. to 350° F. oven; for a three-hour meal 275° F.; for a four-hour meal 250° F.

The menus and recipes in this chapter offer many suggestions for oven-cooked dinners but after a little practice you will be able to make up your own combinations to suit the preferences of your particular family.

After preparing the foods and placing them in the oven, practically all the work is done, and the homemaker is free from responsibility. The time control turns the gas on and off at the times set, automatically.

These ranges, being insulated, will retain the heat, thus keeping food hot without over-cooking it, and saving fuel at the same time.

BAKING

THERE is no such thing as luck in baking when you have exact measurements, and certainly not the least important of these measurements are time and temperature. Your ingredients correct, with the time and temperature controls on your automatic gas range, you can always get perfect results. Cakes, cookies, and pies are baked at exactly the right temperature for exactly the right length of time simply by following the directions indicated by your automatic gas range manufacturer or by your favorite cooking authority. You don't have to guess whether your oven is too hot or not hot enough, whether your food has baked too long or not long enough. You know! At the end of the designated time you will find your foods in the oven have been cooked to perfection without any testing or watching whatever.

CAKES

There are two classes: "butter" cakes and cakes without butter.

"Butter" cakes are cakes in which butter or other shortening is used. They may be plain, or they may contain nuts, cocoanut, chocolate or fruit. There are a few "quick" cakes in which all ingredients are dropped into a bowl, and the entire mass beaten for several minutes. In most cases, there is a definite procedure. Shortening is creamed until it is very soft; sugar is added gradually while the mixture is being thoroughly creamed with a spoon (preferably wooden). This should be done thoroughly, since it has a favorable effect on the grain of the cake. Then eggs (well-beaten) or yolks are added, and the mixture thoroughly beaten. Sifted dry ingredients and liquid should be added alternately, with as little beating as possible. Long beating develops the gluten in the flour, making the cake close grained and less light, and tends to develop tunnels. If egg whites are to be added separately, they are folded in with as few motions as possible just before cake is ready for the oven. Aluminum, oven glass or block tin dishes are suggested for baking. A satisfactory method of preparing the pans is to place a moderately heavy piece of waxed paper, cut to fit, in the bottom of the pan. No oil is required. When the cake is baked, it should be inverted at once upon a cooling rack, to prevent sogginess, and the paper peeled off.

Be sure the oven is at the correct temperature when the cake goes in. Too cool an oven will make your cake coarse grained, too hot an oven may burn the cake on the top or bottom while it is still raw in the center; or the center may hump up or the crust may form so quickly that the cake cannot rise. A sudden change of temperature may make the cake fall. In general, the more shallow the butter cake, the higher the temperature; layer cakes other than chocolate are baked at 375°F. Loaf cakes and all chocolate cakes are baked at 350°F. When the cake shrinks from the edge of the pan, springs back when pressed gently by the finger, or leaves a cake tester clean, it is done.

CAKES WITHOUT BUTTER

Angel foods, sponge cake and sunshine cake come under this heading. All depend upon the air enclosed in eggs to rise, and therefore require careful handling and a very slow oven. When eggs have been beaten, ingredients are folded in very carefully, rather than beaten in. The mixture is poured into an unoiled pan, so the batter may cling to the sides as it rises, and hollow center so that it may cook from center as well as from the outside. The cake is baked at 300°F. to 325°F. for an hour or slightly more, and is then allowed to "hang" upside down in the pan until it has cooled, when it may be removed very easily. Jelly roll is an exception to this procedure. It is poured into a shallow pan lined with heavy waxed paper and baked at 375°F. for about 25 minutes, then it is turned out on a towel, the crust cut off, and spread with jelly and rolled hot.

GETTING THE MOST OUT OF YOUR OVEN

It is more economical, of course, to bake as many dishes as can possibly fit into your oven at one time.

The position of the foods in the oven is more important in baking than in whole-meal oven cooking. In the latter you can place as many pans in the oven as it is possible to get in.

For evenness in baking, "stagger" the pans in alternate positions on the racks, instead of placing them directly over and under one another. Less gas is consumed when the pans are placed in alternate positions on the racks, and the oven air circulates better.

HOW TO WHIP EVAPORATED MILK

When you whip a whole can of milk:

1. Place the unopened can (small or large) in a saucepan and cover completely with cold water.
2. Bring to boiling point quickly and boil 1 minute.
3. Then remove and chill the can of milk thoroughly. (It can be left in the refrigerator indefinitely).
4. Open can and whip the milk immediately with a chilled beater in a cold bowl. (The whipping requires from 5 to 8 minutes).

Evaporated milk triples itself in whipping whereas cream only doubles. If your recipe calls for $\frac{1}{2}$ cup whipping cream, use only $\frac{1}{3}$ cup evaporated milk to obtain the same amount when whipped.

PIESGENERAL RULES FOR PASTRY-MAKING:

1. A safe proportion of shortening to flour is 1 part shortening to three parts flour. Shortening should be cut in to make a consistency similar to corn-meal.
2. Just enough water should be added so that the dough can be gathered together in a mass, leaving the bowl clean. More will make the crust tough.
3. Water should be added slowly, and mixed with knife, fork or pastry blender.
4. For ordinary pastry both shortening and water should be cold. For hot-water pastry, the dough should be thoroughly chilled before rolling.
5. Roll the dough quickly and lightly to a thickness of about an inch. Roll up this "patty" and chill for at least half an hour.
6. Cut off the necessary amount of dough, roll it lightly, keeping it round until it is about $\frac{1}{8}$ inch thick. If the shell is to be baked first, the paste is fitted to the bottom of the pan, pressed down firmly and trimmed. It is then pierced several times with a fork and baked at 475°F . for 12 minutes.
7. If the filling is to be placed in the raw crust, the inside of the pan is lined and the paste pierced. For a one-crust pie, the rim is fluted. For a two-crust pie, the filling is put in and the edge of the crust moistened. Gashes are cut in the upper crust to allow the escape of steam; then it is fitted over the pie. Both edges are fluted together and the temperature reduced as your recipe indicates.

PIE CRUST (PLAIN)

$1\frac{1}{2}$ cups flour $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup shortening about 3 tablespoons cold water

Chop shortening into flour and salt with knives or pastry blender; add very cold water to moisten; turn out on board and roll to desired thickness. This will be enough for two crusts for one pie.

PUFF PASTE

1 cup bread flour
 1 tablespoon lard or crisco
 cold water
 $\frac{7}{8}$ cup butter

Chop lard or crisco into the flour. Mix well. Moisten to a dough with cold water, pat and roll out. Dot with washed butter the lower center part, fold over the top then turn the right side over half way and the left side under half way. Turn it around and roll away from yourself. Roll mixture in rectangular shape and repeat adding the butter until it is all used. Wrap in cheese cloth and put it in a covered vessel on the ice. The pastry itself should never come in direct contact with the ice. In 10 minutes remove from the ice and roll out the desired thickness for the pastries you are going to make. For French pastries about $\frac{1}{8}$ inch in thickness is best. Tartlets should be rolled to about $\frac{1}{4}$ inch in thickness, also pattie shells.

All puff paste should be made in a cold room and cold utensils should be used.

BUTTERSCOTCH PIE

$1\frac{1}{2}$ cups light brown sugar
 3 tablespoons butter 6 tablespoons
 $\frac{1}{8}$ teaspoon salt sugar
 $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups milk 3 eggs

Add vanilla and pour into baked pastry shell. Cover with meringue made of egg whites and the 6 tablespoons sugar. Bake at 300°F . for 15 minutes. Makes one large pie.

NOTE: In baking fruit pie, dust the lower crust with a scant tablespoon of flour, put in fruit, cover with top crust and place uncooked pieces of macaroni in slits on upper crust. By using these as funnels the juice will not run over into the oven. Wet edges of crust with milk or water before pinching together.

APPLE PIE

Pare and cut tart apples in eighths; line pie plate with pastry; fill with the apples and dredge with 3 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon and dot with small lumps of butter; cover with a scored upper crust, bake at 450°F. for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 400° F. and bake 25 minutes longer. Some prefer only one crust, in which case make a lattice work of strips of pie crust.

RAISIN PIE

Soak one package seeded raisins with $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar and 1 cup boiling water, juice and rind of 1 lemon, 30 minutes; add 1 tablespoon cornstarch, mixed with 1 tablespoon cold water, cook on top burner for 5 minutes, stirring constantly; bake between two crusts at 450°F. for 25 to 30 minutes.

1/2 cupful sugar	2 eggs
2 tablespoons flour

CHERRY PIE

3 cups pitted cherries 1 cup sugar
flour

Line pie plate with dough and fill with cherries and sugar. Sprinkle with flour. Cover with top crust; press edges together firmly. Make 3 cuts across top for air holes. Bake for 15 minutes at 450°F., reduce heat to 400°F. and bake for 25 minutes longer.

Pour into a deep pie plate lined with plain pastry and bake at 475°F. for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 325°F. and bake 30 minutes longer. SALADS

SALAD SUGGESTIONS

There are several precautions to observe if you would have a tempting salad:

1. The ingredients should be crisp and thoroughly chilled.
2. Vegetables, meats, fish and fruits should be cut symmetrically in pieces small enough so that the flavor of the dressing will penetrate.
3. Seasoning is very important, and should be carefully done.
4. Mixing should be done very lightly, and with a fork, so that the ingredients will not be mashed.
5. A color accent should be provided: a sprig of parsley or of cress, a strip of red or green pepper, a strawberry or cherry, or just a dash of paprika, will make an uninteresting salad amazingly attractive.
6. The plate on which the salad is served should be chilled and the serving should not be so large as to appear discouraging. An attractive form of service is the informal type in which the salad is arranged in a large bowl or on a platter, and served by the mother of the house at the table.

If you enjoy experimenting, you will find that salad making offers almost unlimited opportunities. There are any number of unusual combinations of fruit and vegetables, meat and fruit, fish and fruit, meat and vegetables, and fish and vegetables to choose from. And there is, of course, gelatine to bind them together if you wish.

CHEESE LOAF

Take cottage cheese and add enough rich cream so that you can handle easily. Add 1 tablespoon freshly chopped mint (very fine). Mix thoroughly with cheese. Mold into loaves so that slices may be $1\frac{1}{2}$ inches long by $\frac{1}{2}$ inch wide. Put into gas refrigerator and leave until very firm. Slice and serve with the salad course.

Decorate the apricot with whole cloves or chocolate pills for eyes, a bit of olive stuffing or pimiento for lips and coconut or riced cheese for hair.

EGG AND ANCHOVY SALAD

Refill whites with this mixture and arrange two halves on a bed of watercress or shredded lettuce. Place a whole anchovy on top of each egg; serve with French dressing.

GRAPE PEAR SALAD

Garnish plate with crisp lettuce leaves. Place one-half canned pear flat side down. Cover rounded side of pear with white cream cheese that has been moistened with cream or mayonnaise. APPLE DUMPLING

Roll plain pastry to one-quarter inch thick. Cut into pieces the size of apples. Place whole pared, cored apples in center of pieces. Fill centers of apples with sugar, butter and cinnamon, mixed together. Wrap pastry around apples entirely enclosing them. Place the folded sides down on oiled baking pan. Preheat oven 10 minutes. Bake apples at 400°F. for 40 minutes or until apples are soft. Serve with liquid sauce, such as maple syrup.

CORN BREAD

SUNDAY NIGHT SUPPERS

One of the most informal ways of entertaining—and one of the easiest for the homemaker—is to invite her guests to Sunday Night Supper. She is able to ask many more than for other occasions because the service can be more or less "self-service" or buffet style. There will be tea or coffee served by the hostess or a friend, but the rest of the supper will be arranged on the buffet or dining table for guests to help themselves. WHAT TO DO WITH LEFT-OVERS

DRESS UP left-over foods attractively and introduce them to your family as something new and tempting—instead of merely something to be used up. Many of these second appearances will be more of a “hit” than at the first serving.

For instance, you can make delicious croquettes from almost any kind of left-over meat and fish and from some vegetables. On page 15 are directions and recipes for making them.

A great asset in preparing appetizing combinations from left-overs is a well made white sauce, or cream sauce as it is sometimes called. If you are not already an expert in this simple art of sauce making, practice up. It's quite easy when you know how.

To reheat roasts, such as chicken, turkey, beef and other roasted meats, so that they will be as fresh and moist as the day they were first served, place in covered roasting pan, with little or no water, and put in a slow oven (325°F.) until heated through.

WHITE SAUCE

2 tablespoons shortening
2 tablespoons flour
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{8}$ teaspoon pepper
1 cup milk

Melt shortening, add flour, salt and pepper. Mix well. Add milk and bring slowly to boiling point, stirring constantly to avoid lumping. For a thin sauce, use 1 tablespoon less flour.

LEFT-OVER CORNED BEEF

Hash. Combine equal quantities of chopped corned beef and cold, boiled potatoes. Moisten with water and fry slowly until brown. Fold over on hot platter. Garnish with parsley.

Corned Beef Savoury. Cut corned beef in small pieces. Put layers of beef and chopped cooked cabbage in a greased casserole. Pour a little hot water or soup stock over top and sprinkle with bread crumbs. Bake in a hot oven 20 minutes or until crumbs are brown.

LEFT-OVER CHICKEN

Creamed Chicken. Cut chicken in small pieces. Mix $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups chicken with 1 cup white sauce. Serve hot on toast. Sprinkle with chopped parsley.

Chicken Patties. Prepare creamed chicken as above. Add chopped cooked mushrooms and chopped pimiento. Serve in patty shells.

Chicken Timbales. Chop chicken fine and moisten with broth or milk. Line greased custard cups with cooked rice. Fill centers with chicken and cover tops with rice. Steam 20 minutes. Turn out on hot platter and serve plain or with tomato sauce.

LEFT-OVER PORK

Stuffed Tomatoes. Chop pork fine. Slice an onion and fry in a little fat. Mix pork and onion with a small amount of bread crumbs. Season. Scoop centers from tomatoes, fill with pork mixture and bake in a hot oven 20 minutes, or until crumbs are brown.

Chop Suey. Cut pork in strips. Cut celery in strips, add a little water and boil 10 minutes. Mix equal quantities of celery and cooked rice, add twice as much pork and a little chopped onion. Season. Heat thoroughly in the pork gravy.

Cottage Pie. Chop pork fine and moisten with gravy. Put a layer of mashed potatoes in bottom of a greased baking dish, then a layer of pork and another layer of mashed potatoes. Bake in a hot oven 20 minutes, or until brown.

LEFT-OVER BEEF

Beef à la Mode. Slice beef and reheat in gravy. Serve with mashed potatoes.

Beef Stew. Cut meat in one-inch cubes, add vegetables (potatoes, carrots, turnips). Heat in gravy or stewed tomatoes. Add a little chopped onion and green pepper, fried in a little fat.

Beef Pie. Prepare meat as for stew, using gravy. Put in greased baking dish. Cover with baking powder biscuit mixture, or with pie crust. Bake in a hot oven 20 minutes or until brown.

LEFT-OVER VEAL

Minced Veal. Chop veal very fine. Add a little chopped parsley and reheat in gravy or white sauce. Serve on toast.

Mexican Veal. Slice veal thin. Fry finely chopped onion and green pepper in a little fat. Add stewed or canned tomatoes and cook slowly 15 minutes. Add sliced veal and heat.

Scalloped Veal. Chop veal fine and mix with an equal quantity of white sauce. Season. Put layers of creamed veal and soft bread crumbs in a greased baking dish. Bake in a hot oven 20 minutes.

Croquettes. See basic recipe for Croquettes on page 15.

Lamb Casserole. Cut lamb in small pieces. Put lamb and macaroni in layers in a greased casserole. Pour thin gravy or thin white sauce over the top layer and cover with bread crumbs. Bake in a hot oven 20 minutes, or until crumbs are brown.

Curried Lamb. Cut lamb in one-inch cubes. Reheat in the lamb gravy to which a little curry powder has been added.

LEFT-OVER VEGETABLES

Soup. Cook vegetables with small amount of water. Press through a sieve and add an equal quantity of thin white sauce. Heat and season.

Cabbage au Gratin. Chop cold cabbage. Put layers of cabbage and bread crumbs in a greased baking dish. Season with salt and pepper. Pour a little hot milk over it. Sprinkle top with grated cheese and bake in a hot oven 20 minutes.

Spinach with Cheese Sauce. Chop spinach. To 1 cup spinach add 1 cup white sauce and ½ cup grated cheese. Heat thoroughly.

HERE is a foundation recipe which you can vary to your heart's content. Quantities may be changed, and other vegetables substituted—and the meat need not be added. It should, though, have the tomatoes whatever other changes you may make.

BAKED VEGETABLES

8 Servings

1 cup peas	2 cups chopped
1 cup diced carrots	cooked meat
2 cups tomatoes	1 tablespoon butter
cooked	1 tablespoon sugar
1 tablespoon	1 tablespoon salt
chopped onion	¼ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon green	2 tablespoons flour
pepper (chopped)	1 egg

Parboil peas and carrots 10 minutes or use left-over vegetables. Combine ingredients. Place in a buttered baking dish, and cover with potato crust. Bake at 425°F. for 10 minutes, reduce temperature to 375°F. and bake for about 35 minutes more.

POTATO CRUST

This recipe offers you an opportunity to dispose of your left-over mashed potatoes—sometimes a difficult task. It makes a very pretty and most delicious top for meat, fish or vegetable casseroles.

1 cup cold mashed potatoes
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ cup shortening
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups flour
milk or water

Sift together dry ingredients, cut in shortening and mashed potatoes; add just enough milk or water to make a dough. Roll out, cut a slash in the middle and place snugly over the meat, fish or vegetables in casserole. Bake in hot oven until brown—about 20 minutes.

INEXPENSIVE MEATS

Many feel that they must have meat at least once a day and yet meat is the one article of food which stands out as the item of greatest expense.

There are only a few pounds of steaks and chops and tenderloin on a large steer. All the rest of the 2100 pounds or so is made up of cheaper cuts and bones. And they must be sold or the prices of the other cuts will soar even higher.

The only difference in various cuts of meat—if they are of good quality—is in the development of the connective tissue, which causes toughness, and in the presence of bone and gristle. When meat is cooked very slowly, the connective tissue is broken down, and the resultant dish is tender. The flavor of the tougher cuts is usually more highly developed than that of the more tender cuts, and is preferred by many people.

Figure the cost of meat by the weight of the edible portion. For instance, if you can buy the portion of beef chuck which is free from bone, you have what is called a "good buy". But if you find that as much as a third of the weight is bone, then you have increased the price per pound to a third again as much, and it is too high for an inexpensive cut. The bone, however, is good for soup, and should never be wasted. Porterhouse steak has so much waste as to make its actual cost very high. But you can always have the tail ground and use it the next night for meat balls, and the bone is placed in the stock pot.

CUTS OF BEEF

HIND SHANK AND FORE SHANK—The shanks are used for soups, stews and hamburger steak.

ROUND—The round is a juicy cut consisting of about two-thirds lean meat. The top or inside is the more tender, while the bottom or outside is usually used for pot roast.

RUMP—This cut consists of about one-half lean and one-third fat, with some bone. It is used for steaks, corning, braising and pot roast.

LOIN—This portion contains the sirloin, and the porterhouse and club steaks. The loin and rib cuts, together, compose only about one-fourth of the side of beef.

FLANK—The flank is practically boneless and can be used with very little waste. Flank steak makes a good stuffed roll, or an excellent pot pie.

RIB—The rib makes a fine roast, but costs more than the other forequarter cuts.

CHUCK—This cut has high value as solid meat, and makes delicious pot roasts, stews, casserole dishes, and spiced beef. The chuck is economical, consisting of about two-thirds lean meat. It has an excellent flavor and it may be cooked in a variety of ways.

PLATE—This cut is suitable for soup, pot roast, and corned beef. The short ribs are excellent for braising.

And here are suggestions for recipes that are as practical as they are delicious:

RAGOUT OF MUTTON

6 Servings

1½ lbs. neck of mutton, cut small
 1 tablespoon butter
 1 tablespoon flour
 1 onion, diced
 1 carrot, diced
 2 cups boiling water
 1 teaspoon salt
 1 bay leaf
 ¼ teaspoon pepper
 spring parsley
 1 clove
 1 cup cooked peas

Melt butter in frying pan. Add flour and brown. Add carrot and onion. Remove vegetables and add meat; brown well. To meat and vegetables add boiling water and seasonings. Put in a kettle, cover and simmer 2 hours. Add peas 10 minutes before serving. Serve in a dish with cornmeal balls.

CORNMEAL BALLS*6 Servings*

¼ cup cornmeal	⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 cup milk	onion juice
¼ teaspoon salt	yolk 1 egg

Cook cornmeal and milk in double boiler 1 hour. Add seasoning and pour over well-beaten yolk. Stir well and cool. When cold roll into balls. Dip in egg and crumbs and fry in deep fat. Rice or farina may be used in a similar way.

MOCK DUCK

Cover a round or a flank steak with a bread stuffing (page 23). Roll steak and tie or skewer securely in shape. Dredge the roll with seasoned flour and brown in hot suet. Then add a small amount of boiling water or stock (1 cup) cover closely, and cook over a low flame or in a moderate oven 350°F. until tender—about 1 hour. This dish may be served with currant or apple jelly.

MOCK ROAST BEEF*4 to 6 Servings*

1 lb. ground beef	1 bay leaf
flour	thyme
3 or more onions	salt
1 can solid tomatoes	pepper

Shape the meat into a loaf, and rub into it as much flour as the meat will hold. Brown the sliced onions in a small amount of fat melted in a hot baking pan. Place the meat roll in the pan and allow it to brown on all sides. Add the tomatoes, bay leaf, a bit of thyme, and salt and pepper to taste. Cover closely, turn gas very low, and cook for 45 minutes to 1 hour.

CREAMED CORNED BEEF HASH
(BAKED)6 Servings*

3 tablespoons butter	1½ cups cold cooked corned beef (chopped)
1 slice onion	1 cup chopped vegetables
½ bay leaf	1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons flour	½ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups liquid	1 cup buttered crumbs
1 egg

Melt butter, cook the onion and bay leaf, then add the flour and stir until smooth. Remove the onion and bay leaf and slowly add the liquid, which may be milk or broth or part of each. Stir until it thickens, then add the beaten egg and remove from fire. Combine with chopped meat, vegetables and seasoning and place in greased baking dish. Sprinkle crumbs over the top and bake at 350°F. for 45 minutes. If cooked vegetables are used, the baking time may be shortened to 25 minutes.

MEAT PIE*8 Servings*

2 onions
1 cup celery (cut fine)
6 tablespoons meat drippings
2 pounds beef
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
1 green pepper (cut fine)
3 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 cups cooked diced carrots
2 cups cooked peas
5 tablespoons flour
A baking-powder-biscuit dough as follows:
2 cups flour
3 tablespoons shortening
¾ cup milk
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt

Dice and brown the onion and celery in 2 tablespoons drippings. Add the meat cut in pieces for serving and brown well. Cover with boiling water. Add salt and pepper, green pepper and parsley; and let simmer until tender—about 2 hours.

Mix 4 tablespoons drippings with 5 tablespoons flour to a paste. Add to meat and cook until stock is thickened. Place meat and vegetable mixture in a buttered baking dish. Cover with gravy.

Make the baking-powder-biscuit dough, roll out, and cut with a biscuit cutter. Place biscuits on top of meat and gravy. Bake 20 minutes at 425°F. Serve at once.

COLD PACK OVEN CANNING

Avoid the possibilities of failure in “Cold-Pack” canning by using only fresh fruits and vegetables.

The syrup for sweet fruits should be one part sugar to four parts water, boiled just sufficiently to dissolve the sugar. For medium sweet or sour fruits use one part sugar to two parts water.

Prepare the products according to the chart and blanch for the time given. Blanching is the process of first dipping the products into scalding water, or steam, for the time given in the chart and then dipping in and out of cold water for a corresponding length of time.

Keep in a dark place where it is cool but not in a place where the products might freeze. Before serving peas or beans, turn contents into pan and boil one minute.

JELLIES AND PRESERVES → → → → → → → → →

MODERN PRESERVING

Fruits are a rich source of vitamins, none of which are appreciably affected by the heating processes used in canning. Vegetables also may be successfully canned. By canning fruits and vegetables in seasons when they are plentiful and cheap, variety and economy in your family's diet may be enhanced the year around. Besides, who does not love canned fruits and jellies! And how they help solve that dessert problem, either served right from the jar or glass—or made into pies or other favorite desserts!

Modern canning methods, and the modern gas range have taken the drudgery out of home canning. There is no canning method you cannot successfully use with your gas range.

By cooking up a few glasses of jam, conserve or jelly, while you are in the kitchen preparing dinner, you will be surprised how easy it is to accumulate a "preserve closet" just by doing up a little fruit at a time. However, many women will prefer to "make a day of it" in canning. For these, a gas range offers flexible heat for the big clothes boiler or steam pressure cooker. Both the cooking top and the oven of a gas range offer complete and perfect facilities for either the hot-pack or the newer cold-pack canning method.

CARROT MARMALADE

2 cups carrots	2 lemons
1 orange	1 cup sugar

Scrape carrots and put through food chopper. Cook in sufficient water to cover until vegetable is tender. Drain and add the juice of lemons and the juice and grated rind of orange. Stir in sugar. Put in oven with thermostat set at 250°F. for four hours. Put in clean hot glasses and cover with melted paraffin.

HONEY PINEAPPLE— WATERMELON PRESERVES

Boil the following for 10 minutes:

1 lb. honey
 $\frac{3}{4}$ cup water
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon ginger juice and grated rind of 1 lemon.

Add 1 lb. of watermelon rind, cut into small cubes.

Simmer gently for 3 hours in oven with thermostat set at 250°F. Add 1 cup crushed pineapple and cook in oven 1 hour longer. Then bring to boil on top of stove and seal in jars immediately.

MARMALADE

4 medium sized oranges, sliced
2 lemons, sliced

Both rind and pulp are used.

Wash fruit without peeling, cut into thin slices—remove seeds; measure fruit—add $\frac{1}{2}$ as much water as fruit—place fruit and water in enamel pan, cover and let stand over night. In the morning heat mixture over burner until it reaches boiling point. Place pan, covered, in oven at once preheated to 350°F. Cook for 10 minutes, then set dial at 300°F. and continue to cook for 50 minutes. Remove from oven, again let stand over night. Measure cooked fruit and equal quantity of sugar, heat again on burner top until it reaches boiling point. Place mixture at once, uncovered, in oven with temperature at 350°F. Cook for 10 minutes. Then set dial at 300°F. and continue cooking for 50 minutes. Sterilize lids and jelly glasses by placing them in a kettle, covering with cold water, put on top burner and bring to a boil; boil for 10 minutes. Remove glasses from hot water one at a time, and fill with hot marmalade—set aside to cool and thicken, then cover with hot melted paraffin; when solid put on lids and store in a cool, dark, dry place. Yields 9 glasses.

QUINCE PRESERVES

Wash and pare quinces; cut in quarters and remove cores. Cook skins, with just enough water to cover them, until soft. Then strain off this water and in it cook quinces and half as many apples, also pared and cored. When fruit is cooked remove from water and to the liquid add 3 cups sugar for each 4 cups fruit. Boil 5 minutes, add fruit and cook slowly until fruit is a very delicate pink. Put fruit into hot sterilized jars and add boiling syrup to overflow. Seal at once.

MATRIMONY JAM

2 lbs. apples 2 lbs. plums
2 lbs. pears
5½ lbs. or 11 cups sugar

Pare and core apples; skin and stone plums. Put skins and stones of plums and parings of apples into a preserving pan with 2 cups water. Simmer for 30 minutes and strain. While this is cooking, peel and core pears. Cut apples and pears and have them ready. Put the strained juice in preserving pan with sugar, and when it boils put in apples, pears and plums. Boil for 30 minutes, then pour into sterilized glasses and cover.

TOMATO MARMALADE

4 quarts ripe tomatoes 6 lemons
1 cup seeded raisins 4 pounds sugar

Peel tomatoes and cut in thin slices. Wash lemons and slice very thin. Put all ingredients in sauce pan without handle, cover and place in oven that has been preheated at 350 degrees. Cook for 10 minutes, then reset dial to 300 degrees and cook for 10 minutes uncovered. Stir well and cook 40 minutes longer. Stir well again or until all ingredients are soft. Fill glasses, that have been sterilized, with marmalade. Set aside to cool and thicken and then cover with melted parffin.

MASSACHUSETTS CHILI SAUCE

12 ripe tomatoes 1 tablespoon
12 green peppers cinnamon
2 large onions 1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon salt 3 cups vinegar

Peel tomatoes and onions; remove stem ends and seeds from peppers. Chop all together or put onions and peppers through meat grinder. Combine with vinegar and seasonings. Boil 1½ hours and bottle.

YELLOW TOMATO PRESERVES

6 lbs. yellow tomatoes
1 lb. sugar
juice and grated rind of 4 lemons
⅛ cup minced green ginger root

Blanch tomatoes and remove skins. Add sugar, lemon juice and rind and ginger root. Let stand over night, then cook gently until thick. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal at once.

MINT AND APPLE JELLY

apples boiling water
fresh mint granulated sugar

Pick over and wash apples, cut into eighths, but do not remove core or skin as they contain most of the pectin. Place the fruit in a kettle with enough water to keep fruit from sticking to pan. Bring quickly to boiling point and boil until juice flows freely from fruit. Strain through jelly bag, then add a cupful of fresh green mint to each 2 quarts of boiled apple juice. Strain, reheat, add sugar which has been warmed, allowing ⅔ of a cup of sugar to each cup of apple and mint juice. Boil for 5 minutes then test by placing a teaspoonful on a plate and cool quickly. If it can be pushed back with a spoon it is done. When done, turn into sterilized glasses, cool, seal with paraffin wax and place on lids. Wipe each glass and label with name and date.

APPLE BUTTER COOKED IN OVEN

8 pounds apples
3½ pounds sugar
1 teaspoon ground cloves
1 teaspoon ground allspice
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
4 quarts sweet cider or water

Weigh, wash and slice the apples. Combine with cider or water and cook rapidly, until mushy. Strain through sieve, then add sugar and spices. Place in oven and cook for 3 or 4 hours at 250°F. or until thick. Stir occasionally. Transfer to sterilized jars and seal with sterilized rubbers and tops. If it is not to be used soon, wipe the jars and when cool cover with paraffin.

QUINCE JELLY

Wash quinces, cut into small pieces; put them into a preserving kettle, cover with water and boil until they are soft. Transfer them to a jelly bag and let them drain. Carefully avoid applying pressure if a clear jelly is desired. When juice has all drained out, measure it and return it to the kettle. For every cup of juice add 1 cup sugar and boil together for 20 to 30 minutes, or until it will jell on a cool plate. Pour into sterilized jars or glasses and when cold cover with melted paraffin.

WATERLESS COOKING

THE PRINCIPLE of this so called “waterless” cooking method is—use as little water as you can without burning the food. The only purpose of water is to prevent burning. Water does not cook the food—HEAT does that. Excess water simply boils out the flavor and food value, leaving devitalized food. When this water is thrown away, your family’s money and vitality go with it. If you do have any water left after cooking vegetables—save it; use it in soups, gravies and creamed dishes. It is valuable food!

In a “Waterless Cooker” made of heavy aluminum and equipped with inset pans, several vegetables and a meat may be cooked at the same time. By this method the consumption of fuel is materially reduced. A set of triplicate saucepans, also of heavy aluminum, answer the same purpose. In fact, any utensils you may happen to have, made heavy enough to retain heat, may be used in cooking with little or no water over a low flame.

HEALTHFUL WAYS TO COOK VEGETABLES

Because certain vegetables, such as spinach, broccoli, Swiss chard and other leafy varieties, contain in themselves a large percentage of water, they may be cooked with only the water that clings to them after washing. Cook in covered utensil over a very low gas flame. This method retains the color and natural flavor of the vegetable and preserves the valuable mineral content.

Such vegetables as beans, peas, carrots, summer squash, celery and shredded cabbage may be cooked with from $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ cup water to each quart of vegetable. Cover, to keep in steam, and cook over very low flame.

NUTRITIVE VALUE OF VEGETABLES

During the past few years we have learned a great deal that is new about the foods we eat. We have learned too, that right eating will do much to keep us and our families in good health. Perhaps one of the most important things for mothers and homemakers to remember is the necessity of including plenty of vegetables—both raw and cooked—in our diet. Vegetables not only furnish most of the vitamins and minerals our bodies need, but they also act as “regulators” because of the bulk, or roughage, they contain.

Green and yellow vegetables are of particular value in the diet as protectors against colds. Celery, lettuce, cabbage and radishes are among our best roughage foods.

ODORLESS COOKING

ODORLESS cooking in parchment, while it seems to be an entirely different method, is really a variation of waterless cooking. Plenty of water is used, but the food does not come in contact with it.

The vegetables, fish or meats to be cooked are placed on a sheet of moistened cooking parchment, which is then gathered around them in a bag shape and the open end of the bag tied tightly with a white cord. This completely sealed bag is then placed in a pot which contains enough boiling water to cover most of the bag. A little water may first be put in the bag if the food hasn't enough juice to cook in its own vapor.

Boil as required by the food being cooked. No water can get in through the parchment—and no odor or flavor can get out. They are sealed in with the juices, minerals and vitamins of the food. You can cook onions, cabbage, fish and other foods having a strong odor without any unpleasant evidence whatever.

If you haven't a steamer, you can improvise one by setting a colander over a pot of boiling water, placing the parchment bag of food in it, and covering tightly. Carrots, cabbage, onions and cauliflower (quartered or sliced) are preferably steamed, but may be boiled in the manner described above, with the bag tied very tightly. Spinach, kale, chard, peas, string beans, asparagus and other green vegetables may be steamed or boiled.

Add butter and seasonings to the vegetables.

Two or three vegetables or other foods can be cooked separately in one pot, by tying them in separate parchment bags.

GENERAL PRINCIPLES OF ODORLESS COOKING

To cook strong-odored vegetables without using parchment, cook them in a large quantity of boiling water, in an uncovered container. If the water is not to be used for soup, they may be drained directly into the sink; the cold water should be allowed to run during the draining, to condense the steam and carry it quickly down the drain. The water may be changed once or twice, if one wishes to avoid the slightest trace of odor.

Fish should be wrapped in parchment paper the minute it comes from market, and placed in the refrigerator until it is to be cooked. If the dishes with which the fish has come in contact are plunged into a bowl of water to which bag salt has been added, they will have no odor, and if the hands are washed in the mixture, there will be not the slightest suggestion of fish about them. If the fish is to be boiled, it may be placed in boiling water to which has been added 1 tablespoon salt and 3 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice for each quart of water.

High temperatures are responsible for odors in the case of meat. The temperature should be kept below 350°. If a pot roast cooks slowly, or a piece of boiled meat is kept below the boiling point, there will be no aroma through the house. It so happens that these low temperatures are recommended because they prevent shrinkage, insure tenderness, and develop flavor. It is obvious that with a gas flame this temperature may be controlled more perfectly than by any other medium.

MARKETING

IT IS very important to be able to recognize good quality in foods, in order to know whether or not you are buying wisely. In the case of vegetables, it is easy—because crispness, tenderness and vividness of color tell the story very well. In most fruits, the firmness, color and weight are the indicators. A heavy fruit is apt to be juicy and desirable.

Many foods are priced according to size; that is, large prunes or large oranges are more expensive than small. Often the smaller ones are a better “buy”. In many cases it is cheaper to buy ungraded foods,—in the case of potatoes for instance. Ripe bananas are often sold cheap, and are much more easily digested than the yellow ones. Be sure that the skins are not broken. Canned goods come in a variety of grades. It is sometimes wise to buy the cheaper grades, if the brand is a good one and if they serve your purpose. For example, the cheaper tomatoes in a good brand are simply imperfect in shape.

It is cheaper to buy in quantity if storage space and money permit.

Consider the care of your food when it is brought into the house. Canned goods, are simply put away. Lettuce, radishes, etc., are washed, spoiled leaves or tops are removed, and the clean greens are put into an enamel box called a freshener and left in the refrigerator. If you have a gas refrigerator, you will find that your vegetables will stay fresh for a week or more. Vegetables other than those placed in the refrigerator are stowed away in a vegetable bin, if you have one. Meat is taken from its paper, wrapped in wax paper, placed on a plate and kept in the refrigerator.

HOW TO SELECT MEAT

Meat should be uniform in color, the flesh firm and elastic to the touch.

Beef should be bright red in color and intermingled with yellowish fat.

Mutton should be dull red, and its fat white.

Beef ranks first in nutritive value; with mutton close second.

The cheaper cuts of meat have food value equal to the expensive cuts.

FISH

Select a fish that has bright eyes, clear red gills, shiny scales, firm flesh and no disagreeable odor.

Fish are classified as white-fleshed and red-fleshed. The former are more easily digested and therefore better for sick people and those with weak digestions. White-fleshed fish are haddock, halibut, cod, flounder, smelts, whitefish, perch, pickerel, sunfish, crappies, etc. Red-fleshed fish are salmon, shad, lake trout, butterfish, herring, etc.

POULTRY

A chicken has soft feet, smooth skin, soft cartilage at the end of the breastbone, and pin feathers.

A fowl has a coarser skin, rough square feet, a rigid breastbone and long hairs.

Choose spring chicken for broiling; a young, plump chicken for roasting.

A young turkey should be plump, have smooth dark legs, with the cartilage at the end of the breastbone soft and pliable.

Geese and ducks should not be more than a year old. The breast should be plump and firm, the fat white and soft, the wings and foot webbing tender.

VEGETABLES

Cabbage—select those that are hard and heavy, with crisp white leaves.

Winter Squash—select those that are medium-sized, with no soft spots.

Summer Squash—select those light in color, with the shell so tender that it can be broken with the fingernail.

Corn—see that the silk is brown and that the ear is filled with milky kernels.

Peas—pods should be green and brittle; the peas green and not too large.

String Beans—pods should be brittle.

Lima Beans—select green, juicy pods.

GENERAL HINTS TO HOMEMAKERS*HOW TO CUT ONIONS WITHOUT "TEARS"

If you will take a quarter slice of bread, place it between your teeth so that it protrudes slightly from between your lips, you may peel or cut as many onions as you like without the irritation to your eyes which causes tears.

HOW TO CLEAN SILVER

In cleaning flat silver—knives, forks, spoons, etc.—stand them in a bright, clean aluminum pot—do not use an old, tarnished pot. Pour boiling water into pot and add a heaping teaspoonful of baking or washing soda. Let the silver stand for a minute or two and take it out. When the tarnish disappears, rinse the silver in clear hot water and polish with a soft cloth.

All the silver articles should touch the bottom of the aluminum pot.

HOW TO REHEAT VEGETABLES

Place the vegetables into a wire strainer or colander. Put water into the bottom of a double boiler and boil quickly. Now place the colander or strainer over the boiler and let the steam filter thru the vegetables which you should stir lightly with a fork. In a few minutes the vegetables will be hot, bright, looking as appetizing and tasting as delicious as when first cooked.

HOW TO CUT VERY FRESH BREAD

Heat the blade of your knife by passing over the gas flames. When it is hot, it will cut smooth slices in the freshest bread.

HOW TO PUT OUT A FAT FIRE

Fat will catch fire in a pan on occasion. Do not ever try to put out such a fire with water. Water, never mixing with grease, merely spreads the fire. Take a handful of salt and sprinkle it over the burning pan. The fire will go out very quickly.

HOW TO STOP GREASE FROM SPUTTERING

If grease snaps and sputters in the frying pan, sift about $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon of flour through a sifter into the fat. The sputtering will stop instantly.

HOW TO KEEP RICE FROM BOILING OVER

When boiling rice or macaroni, grease the inside of the kettle holding water 3 or 4 inches from the top. The water will not boil over.

HOW TO WASH DISHES EASILY

Dissolve one or two teaspoons of soap powder in a cup or small bowl. You will then have a concentrated soap solution to add to your dishwater that will quickly dissolve away grease on your dishes. This method is also economical on soap.

HOW TO MIX FLOUR AND WATER IN MAKING GRAVY

Use a rotary egg beater to mix flour and water instead of the usual spoon which lumps the flour. After a few turns of the beater, you will find the flour and water smoothly mixed.

HOW TO CARAMELIZE SUGAR

Place sugar to be caramelized into a clean, polished pan, shaking it until the sugar is level. Place pan over fire and when sugar melts, keep it moving about by rocking the pan slowly, not by stirring with a spoon.

HOW TO BOIL ASPARAGUS

Cut off the lowest parts of the stalks and throw away. Scrape the lower half of each stalk with a knife. Place the asparagus in a pot of fast boiling water to which a level tablespoon of salt has been added. Asparagus absorbs salt less readily than most vegetables for which reason even more salt may be put in. No lid should be used on the pot and the asparagus should be boiled until tender (15 to 20 minutes).

ECONOMY IN USING YOUR GAS RANGE

GAS IS the cheapest fuel for cooking. You can make it still more economical by observing the following suggestions:

- 1 Lower the flame of a top burner when the food has started to cook.
- 2 Do not use the largest burner when a smaller burner will do.
- 3 A nest of triplicate pots or pans, which fit together to make a circle, may be used to cook several foods at a time over one burner.
- 4 Turn off the gas before instead of after removing the utensil from the range.
- 5 Do not leave a burner lighted because you expect to use it again soon. Gas requires no warming-up period.
- 6 When a quart of water is enough, do not heat a gallon.
- 7 Plan oven-cooked meals and use the oven to capacity.
- 8 Turn down the flame under a container when water has begun to boil, or shift container to a smaller burner. Fast boiling water is no hotter than water which is just boiling.
- 9 Cook by the chart and oven regulator to save heat. Do not open the oven door unnecessarily;—it wastes heat.
